

UGBA 159 (formerly UGBA 157)

BECOMING A CHANGEMAKER

2 units | Tuesdays 10.00 - 12.00
Fall 2021

In a world that is rapidly changing before our eyes, learn to navigate, shape and lead positive change for yourself and others and gain leadership skills to thrive amidst uncertainty.

What You'll Learn:

- Changemaker Mindset: crucial traits and attributes for leading change, all of which are learnable, practicable and immediately applicable, including resilience, empathy, adaptability, courage and curiosity.
- Changemaker Leadership: skills to lead from wherever you are and to catalyze positive change for teams, companies and communities alike.
- Changemaker Action: with inspiration from diverse changemakers and guest speakers across sectors and roles, you'll create a hands-on changemaker project, applying everything you've learned in class to actually go lead positive change!

About The Instructor:

Alex Budak is a lecturer at Berkeley Haas where he created and teaches "Becoming a Changemaker," which brings together his experience as an entrepreneur, academic and advisor to changemakers around the world. Before joining UC Berkeley, he co-founded StartSomeGood.com, which has helped over 1,000 changemakers in 50 countries raise over $10 Million. A Silicon Valley native, he helped Change.org raise $30M from impact investors and while living in Stockholm, Sweden ran Scandinavia's leading incubator.

Reach out! Email: alexbudak@berkeley.edu // alexbudak.com

To learn more about the class and read students' experiences, check out:

becomingachangemaker.com