Dr. Tanya Paul has taught Corporate Financial Reporting for MBAs since 2022 and has received high TIES ratings both years for the course. This is the first year that Tanya will be teaching UGBA and the class will closely mirror the material taught to the MBAs.

Tanya did her undergraduate studies and PhD at The Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania, and then served as the 2021-2022 Post-Doctoral Fellow at the Financial Accounting Standards Board. Today, her research examines the effects of financial reporting on capital markets and the effects of information disclosure in banks.
